gesprochen: THIS IS THE STORY OF A YOUNG BOY, WHO'S GREATEST WISH WAS TO BECOME A COWBOY.

AND INDEED, WHEN HE WAS ABOUT THIRTY YEARS OLD, HE WAS ONE OF THE BEST WESTERN RIDERS

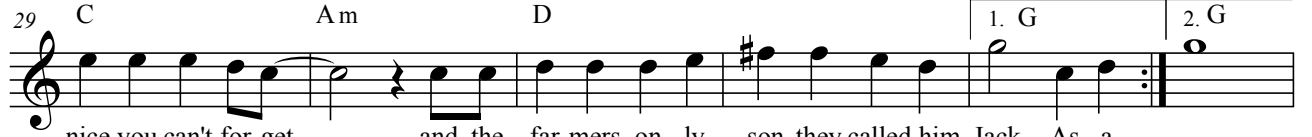

IN THE WHOLE COUNTRY. SO THIS IS THE STORY OF THE LEGENDARY RODEO JACK.

1. Near the Ar - can - sas Ri - ver in a big far - mers house lived a dult, my dear dad - dy, so he always used to say, I will man with his wife and three chil - dren. Ma - ry - Jane and Ma - ble so go far a - way don't be ang - ry. In my dreams I'm ri - ding nice you can't for - get and the far - mers on - ly son, they called him Jack. As a - hor - ses ev' - ry day. So let me live my life and make my way.

Ro - de - o Jack was the best of them all. He was a brave ho - noured man in the coun - try. He rode from town to town, his live was vic - to - ry, and ev' - ry - where he showed, how ro - de - o can be.

2. If in south carolina or in california state everybody knew a lot of stories.
From the famous cowboy, called Rodeo Jack.
They where full of happyness when he came back.
And some day now you listen, on a foggy afternoon
he should ride a giant show in the valley.
The horses run against him and broken was his neck.
So this was the famous end, Rodeo Jack.
